Why Day of Mourning

Province	Number of people who passed away in 2015 from workplace injury or occupational disease
Saskatchewan	35
Alberta	125
British Columbia	122

What is it?

April 28 is Canada's National Day of Mourning. Every year workers, families, employers, and others come together at ceremonies held around each province to remember those who have lost their lives to work-related incidents or occupational disease, and re-new commitment to creating safe workplaces.
